RANRODE GROUP

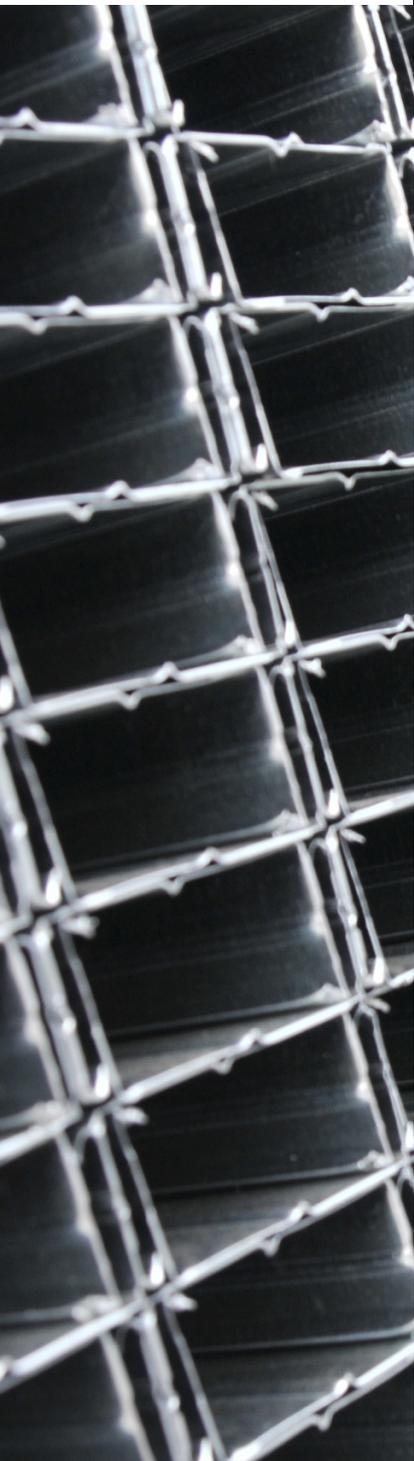

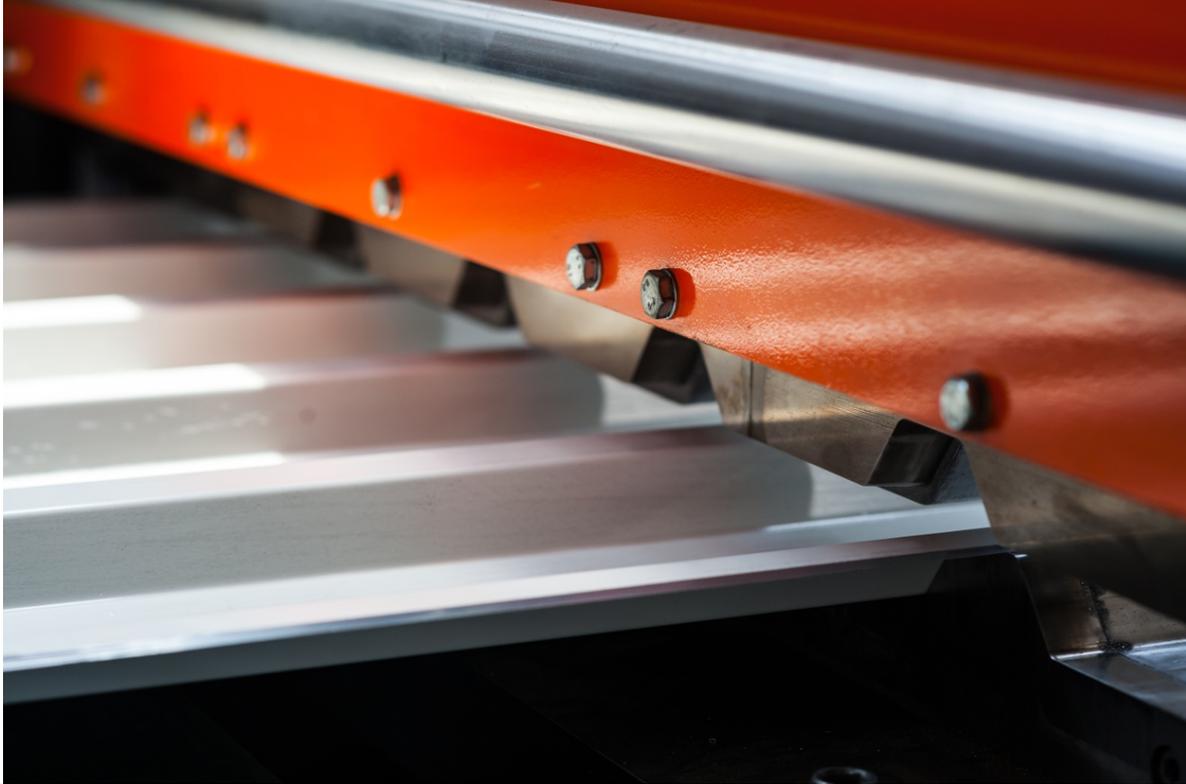

The center of our work is to use steel in a modern world. Our medium-sized company is specialized in manufacture and sale of products made of steel sheets.

The center of our work is to use steel in a modern world. Hardly any other product is better suited as steel for sustainable building activities.

The high strength in relation to its weight makes steel ideal for construction.

Steel components in combination with innovative insulating materials achieve high thermal insulation values. These products save energy and protect the climate.

Our medium-sized company is specialized in manufacture and sale of products made of steel sheets. Every year, more than 1 million square meters of sandwich panels leave our factory area to be used for industrial buildings, supermarkets and shopping malls, or in agriculture.

On consumer market we are leading manufacturer to supply customers throughout Germany with trapezoidal sheets, sandwich panels and metal parts.

To increase our business in this sector we started last year our web shop as the first one for these kinds of materials.

A new facility for production of metal framing components for gypsum plasterboards is currently under construction.

Through our daily efforts, we are anxious to bring recycling-friendly steel even more in people's lives.
